

IGNITING INTEGRATED INNOVATION

WHAT WE DO

Igniting Integrated Innovation

Thrive on is a socio-economic development think tank that works to radically create a more interconnected, ecological way of living through research, education, and innovative community projects.

We envision humanity functioning within a thriving, sustainable ecosystem — one with nature and each other.

WHY DO WE DO IT

To Heal Humanity

While developing economies are imperative to the survival of every species, the way we have developed economies and societies around them, have led humanity, and many other species, to the brink of survival. Thus far we have thought in terms of “systems,” it is now time to think in terms of “ecosystems.”<sup>1</sup>

We are a think tank dedicated to advancing ecosystemic socio-economic thought and ushering humanity in that direction.

OUR PILLARS

Research • Education • Innovative Community Projects

research findings that expand our conception of social coordination and collaboration equipping the transformative architects of tomorrow through experiential, exploratory education bottom-up development of innovative community projects upheld by cooperative values and practise

<sup>1</sup> interdependence and coevolution of human economies and natural ecosystems, both inter temporally and spatially

OUR SPECIAL SAUCE

You

The only way we are able to develop a society that thrives, is with your partnership and participation. Systems are separate, ecosystems are interconnected. By working together and learning from each other, we can make each individual move, a movement.
